BREED THEATER.

"The Lesser Evil," Biograph, Thrilling Adventure of a Fisher Maiden,

On the bill at the Breed today is the superlative Biograph offering enti-tled The Lesser Evil. It opens with the fascinating leading woman in the the fascinating leading woman in the character of a fisher maiden, who has come to a leate shack on the wharf to meet her sailor lover. Unknown to the girl, the shack is occupied by a gang of theves and smugglers, who use the shack for a secret place of meeting. Not finding her sweethoart on the wharf, she enters the building; the sang becomes panic stricken at the sight of an intruder, and carry her aboard ship to avoid her teiling their secret. Just as the boat is leaving the wharf, her lover puts in his appear. wharf, her lover puts in his appearance and helplessly witnesses their departure.

The young man rushes off, and gets the harbor officers to attempt a rescue. In the meantime, the girl is in great peril on the ship, as the captain, who has locked her in his cabin, defends her from the onslaught of the drunken. mutinous crew. Finally, his ammuni-tion being reduced to one cartridge, she begs that it be turned upon her, choosing death rather than falling into their bands. Good fortune, however, or dains that the rescue party shall deliver her from her peril, and she is rescued. Appearing also on the bill is the Pathe Weekly, containing all the most important events of the day, the

AT THE AUDITORIUM.

Another high class vaudeville and picture programme is gracing the boards at this popular playhouse the first three days of the week, and today the popular Animated Weekly will be shown. One of the interesting sub-jects on this reel is the Launching of the Battleship Texas, the largest in the world; and also the New York police parade, which took place in that city a short time ago.

Ford and Hyde, who present At Clifton Corners, a very good rural comedy, have a pleasing offering, and have the crowd with them from start to finish. crowd with them from start to finish.
Al Edwards, a clever musician and Pisano and Bingham, the Dago and Irish sano and Bingham, the Dago and Irish Queen, make up the remainder of the vaudeville programme and fill the bit in a very satisfactory manner.

Some of the other features for today are a Rex, in Payment Full: and The Return of John Grey, Reliance.

The Auditorium is kept cool these warm days by the cooling breezes of its many fans and the air is purified by the new electric azonator.

LIFTERS AND LEANERS.

There are two kinds of people on earth today!

Just two kinds of people, no more, I Not the rich and the poor, for to sount a man's wealth

You must first know the state of his conscience and health.

Not the humble and proud, for in life's little span

Who puts on vain airs is not counted a man.

Not the happy and sad, for the swift flying years Bridg each man his laughter and each man his teams. No! the two kinds of people on earths Are the people who lift and the people who lean.
Wherever you go you will find the world's masses
Are always divided in just the two classes.

And, oddly enough, you will find, too, I There's only one lifter to twenty who In which class are you? Are you easing the load Of overtaxed lifters who toll dewn the road? or are you the leaner, who lets others

Ther portion of labor, and worry and care? -Elia Wheeler Wilcon

RAINBOW TINTS.

A raveled rainbow overhead Lets down to earth its varying thread— Love's blue, Joy's gold; and, soft be-tween. Hope's shifting light of emerald on either side, in deep relief, A crimson Pain, a violet Grief.

Would'st thou, amid life's varying huss huss and these refuse? Know then, where fadeless glories shine

An unseen angel twiets the twine. And be thou sure, what tints so'er The broken threads on earth may

The Broken threads on wear.

It needs them all that, pure and bright, God's love may weare the perfect white.
